Ol' 100

With

There is another crop drawing big benefits from the steady spring showers that have come Milam County's way in recent months.

The crop is figs and the examples we saw were tremendous in size.

Those shown us by Mrs. Dwight Price, North Jackson St., weighed an average of one-quarter pound each. Another group of figs impressive in size was sent in by Mrs. Leo Plachy, 1607 N. Houston.

Each fig was about the size of your fist (if it's small).

I don't know what the fig market is at present, but a crop such as those shown us would bring a fair price if figs are a good money crop.

100-100-100

We wheeled onto the wide thoroughfare and glided silently along, impressed by the paved expanse, the absence of chuck holes and the genuine pleasure of good roadway driving.

It happened to us last week just as it did to just about every Cameron driver. We took our first turn along the four lane widening and resurfacing project on Fourth St.

If this is an example of what good streets are in Cameron, give me more.

It would be surprising if all Cameronites did not agree that this is the kind of street Cameron needs and wants. With improvements going in on Jackson, 18th, 10th and planning for Sixth underway, I think we are seeing the first of many miles of new city streets citians will gladly use.

PATTON TANK ARRIVES — The Herald camera was on hand last week while workmen unloaded the third 49-ton Patton tank for Company C, Fourth Medium Tank Battalion, Cameron's guard unit. Arrival of the massive equipment was in time for Company C's summer camp for June 7-21 at North Fort Hood. The Pattons replaced lighter tanks and halftracks used by the unit prior to the switchover to tanks.

Guard Unit Plans Summer Camp

Milam County's National Guard unit reported several changes in the organization before it is scheduled to leave for two weeks at summer camp.

Orders were received Tuesday redesignating the unit as Company C, 3rd Medium Tank Battalion.

This replaces its desgination as Company C, 4th Medium Tank Battalion (Patton), 649th Combat Arms Regiment given it at the time it was converted from anti-aircraft artillery to a tank company about three months ago.

Company C, along with other units of the 49th Armored Division, will begin two weeks of summer field training June 7th at North Fort Hood, and the local Guardsmen will leave early Sunday morning by motor convoy for their base camp there.

The schedule reportedly calls for a rugged two weeks of training.

Tank Training

The first week will be devoted largely to classes and instructions on tanks and tank guns, and the Guardsmen will have their first real chance to become familiar with their operation. Eleven Patton tanks will be issued to the unit for its use.

Other first week training will include firing on the rifle and pistol ranges and going through the infiltration course once during the daytime and once at night.

The Guardsmen will spend most of the second week out in the field on the tank trails and on the ranges where the tank crews will engage in firing at ground targets.

Highlight of the first week's encampment will be the huge mounted parade on Saturday morning, June 13 when the 49th Armored Divisions 10,000 officers and men and 1,000 tanks, trucks and jeeps will pass in review before a reviewing stand filled with high-ranking military and civilian dignitaries, including Governor Price Daniel and Major General Clayton P. Kerr, the 49th's commanding General.

Nine Promotions

Nine promotions, one new enlistment and two re-enlistments were other new developments reported in the organization.

June Dollar Day Set For Friday

Dollar Day comes once again to Cameron, meaning savings city wide in Milam's county seat.

The Cameron Chamber trade promotion committee is boosting Cameron's traditional Dollar Day for savings to thousands of Milam Countians.

Bargains throughout Cameron in almost every type of merchandise are available for county and Cameron shoppers.

Chamber officials urge shoppers consideration of the savings available in mid-county Cameron. They invite comparison of prices on comparable merchandise anywhere in Central Texas.

"There's a lot of expense in driving out-of-town to shop," Manager Richard Moseley said. "It costs money and time to go out of Cameron when many people end up buying the same merchandise available in Cameron."

Cameron's Dollar Day savings assure shoppers savings on specials in shoes, clothing, household goods, furniture, rugs, small appliances and many other items useful and necessary in every-day living.

You are invited to read Dollar Day advertisements on inside pages of The Herald.

Chamber officials again extended their monthly invitation to all Cameronites to shop at home and save alongside the crowds of Central Texans expected to take advantage of the Friday savings holiday.

Workers Continue Paving Progress On City Streets

Roadwork continued on North Jackson and E. 10th St. while paving was completed on E. 18th St. this week.

And the city approved paving of several blocks in the Ninth St.-Lamar area and retopped Karnes and Nolan Sts. south to Batte St. with a seal coat of oil and gravel.

Workmen were busy touching up Fourth St. at intersections and along curbs and sidewalks.

Last week contractors crushed out old cement piers along North Jackson to clear the way for further grade work before paving began.

Officials said that paving may be 24 feet wide along North Jackson rather than 22 feet to match existing curbing lines along that north Cameron thoroughfare.

Seal coat work was put over Karnes and Nolan Sts. from W. Main south to Batte St. on both north-south thoroughfares.

Public Works Supt. John Earle told The Herald that road construction work is being speeded along and extended his appreciation to citizens along whose streets workmen were preparing grade and right-of-way.

Earle told The Herald that 268 loads of debris were hauled way by city workmen during the recent cleanup drive sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber Studies Idea Sketches On Storefronts

Representatives of Binswanger Co. Monday presented storefront sketches of three Cameron business to members of the Cameron Chamber civic improvement committee.

The drawing showed architectural possibilities using new materials on the fronts of present buildings, Richard Moseley, Chamber manager said.

J. E. McHenry, regional sales promotional manager of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., outlined cost factors in the suggested fronts and discussed possible variations of the basic architectural designs.

Representing Binswanger Co., were Calvin Harris and J. B. Harris.

The sketches were shown to building occupants that day, Moseley said.

He noted that the sketch service was free as part of a "Parade of Progress' program conducted by the companies.

Representatives have taken pictures of a number of downtown Cameron businesses for comparison to architect's sketches being drawn up.

Spokesmen said that a series of meetings to discuss property values before and after modernization would be the next step in the program. Slides of the pictures and suggested storefronts would be shown in the meetings.

The color sketches were drawn in scale and showed recommended materials and layout for the best storefront appearance.

Moseley said that both Cameron banks have offered financing plans for improvements based on sound, economical planning.

Similar programs have been carried out in Lampasas, Stillwater, Okla., and Jennings, La.

Rash of Collisions

Wrecks Injure 3

Three teen-agers suffered injuries in two auto accidents Friday on Cameron streets.

And Cameron police reported a third accident Tuesday causing $250 damage to two vehicles.

Paul Young, 18, of 608 E. Seventh St., suffered a broken collar bone and severe bruises in a two-car collision 10:45 p.m. Friday.

Young's 1958 Ford was in collision with a car driven by Gene Joe Friemel, 29, of 1702 N. Cleveland, Police Chief Chester Simons reported.

The cars collided at the intersection of North Jackson and E. 10th St. Young was heading east on 10th Street while Friemel was going north on North Jackson.

Taken To Hospital

Both young men were taken to St. Edward's Hospital for treatment, Friemel suffered severe bruises.

Simons said traffic tickets were issued to Young for failure to yield right-of-way and exceeding a safe speed.

The Cameron police chief estimated both vehicles as total losses.

In a one-vehicle accident 1:45 p.m. Friday, Allen Boyer, 15, and Robert Mann, 15, both of Cameron, suffered injuries when their car struck a light pole.

Simons said the car apparently skidded out of control on the gravel road while going north at 13th St. and North Harding. Mann was a passenger.

After the two boys alighted from the car, Simons said, some freak short in the wire caused it to head driverless down the road for a half block until young Boyer could catch the vehicle and stop it.

Mann had seven stitches taken in a cut over his eye while Boyer had one stitch in a facial cut.

Simons said the car almost snapped the light pole in the collision, then swung around, leaving the automatic transmission in drive as the motor died. Then, after the duo got out of the car, the engine shorted itself on and moved the car south on Harding.

Police estimated $500 was done to the front of the 1957 Ford.

In an accident 9:05 a.m. Tuesday, a 1958 Oldsmobile driven by Jack F. Hyles, Garland, and a pickup truck driven by Frank McClaren, Rt. 1, Cameron, collided at Fourth St. just west of Fannin.

Both vehicles were heading west on fourth St., Simons said. The auto was damaged to an estimated loss of $200 while damage to the McClaren pickup was estimated at $50.

Yoakum Rites Held For Lee G. McCord

Funeral services were held Monay in Yoakum for Lee Green MiCord, father of Bennie McCord of Cameron.

The Rev. E. B. Kolodzie officiated with interment in the Catholic Cemetery. Rosary was recited at Bufrinyton Cahpel Sunday night.

Mr. McCord was born October 24, 1877. A native of Yoakum, Mr. McCord died at the home of a dauyhter, Mrs. Ira Fitch.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Fitch of Halletsville, three sons, Lay McCord of Sweet Home, Leon McCord of Yoakum and Bennie McCord of Cameron; 16 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren; two brothers, Alpin McCord of Yoakum and Boyce McCord of Corpos Christi; one sister, Mrs. Jim Pickens of San Antonio.

Waco Firm Tests Alcoa Lignite Slag

Alcoa engineers and a Waco construction company are watching another test surface using the Rockdale Work's slag aggregate emplaced last week in Waco.

Officials from Alcoa and Young Construction Co. covered test areas on a Waco street with the aggregate in a test of the material already used in College Station.

The Rockdale Reporter noted that officials from the City of Waco, and research and engineering firms attended the laying of the test material.

Young Construction Co. has hauled several truck loads of slag aggregate from the Milam County plant to Waco for testing purposes.

Test surfaces have been emplaced by engineers of the Texas Transportation Institute and Texas A&M at College Station.

The A&M Tests indicate that surface material mixed with the lignite ash grows stronger with age and is economical to produce for surfacing in Central Texas cities and highways.

The Alcoa plant produces 450 tons of the material each day during the burning process that produces electricity for aluminum smelting.

Alcoa officials note the gritty texture of the slag-surfacing mixture which assures non-skid surfaces such as the College Station test street.

Material Available

Company spokesman told The Herald in an interview a few weeks ago that the material is immediately available for use in the Central Texas area.

TTI engineers rate the material a "much safer paving surface that eliminates considerable amount of tire noise expected on conventional road surfaces."

Its quiet, non-skid qualities would probably make the slag-mixture ideal for city streets, according to Bob M. Gallaway, research engineer with TTI.

The Milam County lignite by-product is attracting widespread interest in Texas.

Councilmen Will Check Vehicles In Area Cities

Councilmen Tuesday night voted to purchase a street sweeper and to employ a sanitation engineering specialist for a study of Cameron's drainage and sewerage needs.

Approval for the purchase of a street sweeper has followed study of various types of equipment and payout plans, city officials said.

A City Council committee will visit Temple and other Central Texas cities prior to purchase of the sweeper to see similar equipment in operation.

Officials estimated that a new sweeper will cost from $8,000 to $11,000 and can be purchased on a rental-monthly payout plan.

$1,000 Budgeted

Already in the current city budget is $1,000 for downpayment and monthly installments for the equipment.

Officials were unanimous in approving the employment of a sanitation engineering specialist for a comprehensive study of Cameron sanitation needs.

The city has about $50,000 on time deposit that is earmarked for sewerage and drainage improvements officials said. It is a reminder of bond money allocated for sewerage and drainage improvements.

"The council hopes to get a comprehensive program outlined by a sanitation expert," Mayor Bassel Wilson told The Herald, "to give us a lineup of projects in order of need."

The $50,000 fund is available for sewerline extensions and improvements and cannot be used for other city improvement purposes.

Sanitation Needs

Councilmen discussed sanitation problems such as outhouses prevalent in West Cameron and a drainage ditch in east Cameron near the Santa Fe tracks in which open sewage is flowing.

In other action the Council called for a clamp down on speeding in Cameron and a four-way green and red stop light at the intersection of Fourth and Fannin.

State highway officials promised a traffic survey to see if the intersection would justify a four-way stoplight with both red and green lighting. A four-way red blinker stop sign is in operation at present.

Police Chief Chester Simons said that his department was planning a safe driving campaign following two accidents this week on city streets.

He said that he would like to see slower speed limits put into effect on main thoroughfares and highways going through Cameron.

WEATHER NOTES

Flash rains have been the order of the week for Cameron and vicinity. A quick .44 inch of rain fell Tuesday and a brief shower fell Wednesday in Cameron.

The Weatherman was looking for more hot weather following average high temperatres last week of about 92.

More Roads For Milam . . .

State To Let 3 Bids

The State Highway Department this week called for bids on more than 11 miles of new base and surface on two county farm-to-market roads.

Bid call followed notice from Resident Engineer Carol Zeigler that grade clearance has been completed on the new seven mile US 77 from Minerva to east of Rockdale.

Bids will be opened June 17 in Austin for 6.405 miles of base and surfacing of FM 485 from Splawn to Yarrelton and two projects on FM 486.

Second Segment

A second work program will call for construction of 4.207 miles of US 79 at Thorndale south to road intersection near Conoley Church.

Announcement of the bid call brought to eight road projects under way in Milam County since the first of the year.

Highway officials said that construction of the widening project from Rockdale west 7.181 miles on US 79 was about complete while the US 77 Rockdale-Minerva stretch was about 7 per cent complete.

Other projects let for construction this spring include the widening of US 77 in Cameron, painting of US 77 Little River Bridge, Surfacing of US 77 east three miles to intersection of SH 36-US 77 and Yarrelton-Marak farm-to-market road.

The new span of US 77 from Minerva will intersect US 79 at an interchange east of Rockdale when completed, officials said.

Straighter Route

The new US 77 from Minerva will follow a straighter line to Rockdale and is being built at a contract price of $564,509. Contractor is W. O. Pelphrey.

A 0.492-mile span will be constructed from east Rockdale city limits to the new US 77 when completed. Contract price was $29,623.

All surfacing being completed in current projects is asphalt hot mix.

The widening project west of Rockdale on US 79 goes to Rocky Creek.

Officials said an interchange overpass will be built in the future where US 77 and US 79 meet at the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks near Rockdale.

The Rockdale-Minerva route will strengthen out a series of curves and crsossings that were considered highly dangerous by state highway patrol officials for many years.

Selling isn't at all like pulling rabbits out of a hat, except in this one respect: there's a lot more to it than meets the eye! Buying often starts in the customer's mind, long before he enters the store. By the same token, selling usually starts where most people look for buying information... in the advertising columns of the HERALD. Practically everybody reads the HERALD ... often as much for what is in the advertising columns as for what is in the news columns. Because the HERALD reaches the advertiser's TOTAL market wit hTOTAL selling impact, it is known as the TOTAL SELLING MEDIUM. Experience has proved again and again that the newspaper is the ONE advertising medium for which there is NO satisfactory substitute.

Traffic Deaths Are Higher In '59

AUSTIN—The Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety warned today a "definite upward trend" in Texas traffic deaths has been established this year even before the heavy summer-holiday travel season.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr. said onlss something happens to change the trend, it could mean that an all-time record of traffic deaths could be in the making for 1959.

He said the death trend appears to be levelling off at about 10 per cent above 1958, when 2,342 traffic victims were counted, and pointed out this could mean 233 additional deaths this year if the pace is maintained.

"With travel up an estimated three per cent this year, and with the Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays yet to come, this could mean we're driving for an all-time high in motorcides on the streets and highways of Texas", Garrison said.

Garrison reported that as of Friday noon, May 29, at least 833 persons were killed in traffic, compared with 753 during the same period of 1958—an increase of 11 per cent.

"This means 80 more lives were lost in traffic violence," he said. "We appeal to every driver to observe these cold, hard statistics and realize those summer trips are potentially more dangerous this year than last.

"We also must realize it is extremely likely that one of the biggest killers on the long, hot summer road is fatigue — an insidious demon that can attack even those of us who observe all the other known safedriving practices.

"Our statistics cannot reflect how many traffic deaths are caused by fatigue, only that the death car was on the wrong side of the road, ran off the road, or rammed into a slower-moving vehicle. They cannot tell us that driver was asleep, or nodded at the wrong split-second.

"Don't let your vacation enthusiasm cause you to drive when you should be resting. Don't push yourself to make up for lost time. Don't get caught napping at the wheel."

Owls Take Victory From Cats Monday

The Owls set back the Cats in the Owls first contest of the Babe Ruth League season 7 to 5.

Each team collected 6 hits during the contest.

The Owls scored 1 in the 5th, 4 in the 6th and 2 in the 7th.

The Cats picked up 2 in the 3rd, 1 in the 4th, and 2 in the 7th.

Bobby Jones got credit for the win. Jones relieved Chris Gay when Gay lost his control with the bases loaded. Jones retired the side with any harm done but the owls were a run behind as they entered the bottom of the 7th.

Stanley Summers and Jones both rounded the bases in the 7th to take a two run lead and end the game.

In the eighth Pendleton scored on a sacrifice fly. Wayne Redden picked up their final run on a fielders choice on a hit by Harris.

Cameron scored in the first inning on a wild throw and scored twice in the ninth to tie the contest.

Northern led Pendleton's hitters going 4 for 4. Leading Cameron slugger was Chester Simons going 2 for 5.

Cameron's Public Swimming pool under the direction of Snooks Michalka has made several notable improvements since last summer for the swimmer's enjoyment.

The pool's hours are 2 to 8 p.m. on week days and 2 to 7 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The pool was repainted for the summer and a new high diving board was added and a new low diving board will be put in use later.

Cameron's Merchants are right now at a most undesirable position in the Centex Baseball League standings, last.

The Merchants who are managed by Johnny Florida have as yet to victor in the yet young season. Top man on the mound, Marvin Doskocil has been doing a respectable job of hurling so the answer is believed to be in the teams offensive side.

Whatever the problem is, chances are it will be ironed out before long so all there is to do is sit back and wait.

VOS

Th first homerun of the Babe Ruth League season was hit Monday night by Bobby Griswold, infielder and hurler for the Cats.

Pendleton Remains On Top of League

Action in the Centex League was high last Sunday with the spotlight being focused mainly on the Cameron Pendleton game.

Pendleton remained in the first place defeating the Merchants 4-3 in 10 innings.

Kenneth Wade led Hurricane Fence over Eddy going 8 innings fanning 15 and giving up only two hits. The final count was 16-1. Hurricane had two players who collected 4 hits, Wade and Davis.

In other action Killeen set back Westphalia 8-7. Johnny Young accounted for Killeens deciding run in the eighth driving a runner home on a single.

The following are in league standings.

Miss Helen Reid Installed As Worthy Advisor

Miss Helen Reid was installed Worthy Advisor of Cameron Assembly No. 272 Order of the Rainbow for Girls at a ceremony Friday evening in the Masonic Temple.

Miss Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Reid, was chosen Grand Choir member last year and attended Grand Assembly O. R.G. She is a junior at Yoe High School where she is a member of the National Honor Society, the Temple, Installing officers; Eil-Latin Club, and hte Yoe High Band. She is a member of the First Christian Church, a member of the choir and a district officer in the Christian Youth Fellowship.

The other officers serving with her are Judy Sutter, Linda Schiller, Vera Perrin, Jean Lester, Carolyn Griswold, Beverly King, Ann Bowman, Barbara Woodurn, Saundra Fuller, Jane Monroe, Betty Butler, Patricia Raymond, Donna Reed, Peggy Schiller, Pam Green, Carol Crook, Marsha Seibman, Bobbye Edmonds, Peggy Mann and Mrs. Johnny Lee Richards, Mother Advisor.

Installing officers were Miss Sue Fairchild, Grand Hope, O.R.G. of Temple, Installing officer; Eileen Jacks, marshall, Miss Marilyn Hughes, recorder; and Mrs. Grace Reid, musician.

For her term Miss Reid chose "Happiness" for her theme, the scripture, John 15:11 and her motto: "Happy is the one who serves the Lord". Her colors are yellow, the beauty of nature, and green, the hope of immortality; her flower, the rose.

The hall was decorated to represent a garden scene with trellis covered with ivy and clusters of gold grapes. Two baskets of yellow gladiolas, bouquets of yellow spider mums and yellow roses completed the scene.

After the installation the worthy advisor was honored with a special program, "A Walk in the Rainbow Garden", where she gathered a bouquet of tulips in the Rainbow hues. Mrs. Gertrude Harsha sang "My God and I" and "In the Garden."

The table in the reception hall was covered in green linen and decorated with an arrangement of yellow roses in gold and crystal epergne. Crystal trays of yellow and green iced finger cakes and mints in the chosen colors were served with fruit punch. Miss Jane Monroe registered the guests and Miss Dorthy Kelly served in the dining hall.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Fairchild and daughters Sue and Faye of Temple and Mrs. M. E. Orndorff of Giddings.

Cameron's Business - Industrial Review

Story Of Cameron Business Leadership

On Any Occasion
Say It With Flowers By Glass

After 27 years in the wholesale and retail business, there is little doubt that "when you say it with flowers in Cameron and Rosebud, Glass the Florist says it best." In fact two generations of Glass, the Florists, make floral service and selection a pleasure and delight regardless of the occasion.

Co-owners Mr. and Mrs. Lester Glass and son, Donald Glass, present an array of flowers for that special occasion that makes a remembrance from Glass, the Florist something really special.

Donald Glass points out that potted plants, sprays, corsages, bouquets, cut flowers and any other floral requirement are available in a spectrum of selections.

Greenhouse Fresh

He emphasizes that flowers by Glass are greenhouse fresh to their customers. Glass, the Florist grows most of their flowers in their own local greenhouses.

Freshly picked, the flowers are beautifully arranged by the skilled floral decorators at Glass the Florist. And they are delivered in fast efficient manner by one of five trucks working in Cameron and a truck in Rosebud, he points out.

"We consider the floral occasion in recommending types of flowers and their arrangements to our customers. We strive for the personal touch that flowers convey when they are given as a gift or special remembrance."

Glass's floral arrangments for funerals are done with dignity and grace befitting the need, Glass says. And equal care is devoted to flower and scenic arrangments for weddings and parties.

Adds Cement Drive
Modern Station For Mack's Oil

Mack's Oil Company is open for business again at their highway 77 and 36 service station location after completing improvements which included a cement driveway and modernization of retail gasoline pump and service area.

In addition to the outside work done, A. W. McCullin, owner, recently remodeled the company offices as part of a continuing effort to keep facilities of Mack's Oil Company up to the latest in motorists requirements in an auto service center.

McCullin, also Phillips petroleum distributor in Milam, Burleson and Lee Counties, knows that top-notch service is what customers want. And that is what they get at his Cameron, Rockdale and Caldwell service stations.

The Cameron station features Phillips petroleum products including diesel fuel, motor oils and gasoline. They also sell Lee Tires, the famous Gates belts, Purolator oil filters and Champion sparkplugs, all well known brand items.

"You will find the complete service at Mack's 66 in Cameron" McCullin says. "And the same efficient, courteous Phillips 66 service awaits you at the Rockdale and Caldwell stations."

A versatile man in petroleum products and public service, McCullin also buys and sells crude oil in the Minerva field in Milam County. In fact, he points out that he began working in the oil business in Minerva in 1931, moving to Cameron in 1939.

NEWSPAPER CONTESTS · TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION · 1958 · PRIZE WINNER

With Sadness . . .

Highway mayhem was the order of the Memorial Day weekend throughout the nation as more than 400 died in traffic accidents.

In Texas, we ranked not too far behind California which headed traffic-fatality counts at 30. Texas had 23.

It's a grim reminder each weekend holiday of the death sceptre hanging over the driver's head. It takes only a nod of the head or a chancey turn and the toll rises.

There is one optimistic point of view. If all the traffic were counted, we would be amazed that there are not more accidents and fatalities.

Driving is a test of skill and ability to judge the actions of the other driver. We count with sadness those numbers who fail to pass the test.

Agriculture Hopes Up . . .

Agricultural specialists in Milam County have noted ideal growing conditions throughout the spring.

With weather combination of rain and sunshine seeming favorable throughout the Milam Area, it would seem that summer fall crops should be sound ones.

A larger percentage of available cotton acreage has been planted this spring than in the last five years. It took the 8,000-bale crop of 1958 to hit the lowest ebb of cotton growth in Milam's history.

Drives were conducted by numerous organizations and individuals to get county farmers back into the cotton growing habit. Their work and grower interest have put cotton back into fields untilled for cotton in recent years.

And cattle continue to yield good prices as summer comes on.

If these conditions prevail, the fall should be nearer the normal productive crop yield. And Milam County should continue to seek fullest development of her resources . . . wherever they might be.

Doubts White-Collar Farming Would Be Less Tiring Than Present Kind

Dear editar:

When a man doesn't know any more what's happened in the past than I do, he hasn't got much business predicting what's going to happen in the future, but I'm always interested in what somebody else has to say about it.

For example, I was reading an article last night in a newspaper a neighbor handed me earlier in the day because he said he didn't have time to read it, too busy working, that predicted that in 10 years "the ancient image of work as something manual and tedious will be fading rapidly and most workers will be wearing white-collars."

This does not leave me altogether satisfied. I mean, while the ancient image of work as something hard may fade in the next ten years, I figure work itself will stay around quite a while longer.

And as for wearing a white collar, this doesn't appeal to me at all. That is, I guess I could wear a white collar now, with a tie, but going up one row and down another on a tractor would still be out plowing in that morning is bound to be dusty by mid-day, still wouldn't fade any images of work, as far as I'm concerned. You can get just as tired from white-collar farming as you can from the open-neck kind.

I'll admit the machine has eliminated a lot of work, but what some people don't seem to realize is that it's caused a lot of other work, too. I long ago noticed that a man who graduates from a tractor with two-row equipment to one with four-row equipment doesn't work half as much as he did before, he just takes on twice as much land and still goes from sun-up to sun-down. I'm not equipped to figure it up myself, but it would be interesting to know how many hours of work scientists and inventors have put in perfecting labor-saving devices, how many hours workers have put in building them, and how many hours consumers have put in working to afford them.

The way I see it, some sort of work is likely to occupy man for some time to come. Putting on a white collar doesn't fool me. I've seen bankers, druggists, doctors, store keepres, school teachtors, store keepers, school teachfrom work as a farmer. I don't belive science can invent the type of collar that'll keep a person from getting tired.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Personal Mention

AUSTIN—Whether and how the state's tax problem is met now depends largely on the Senate.

House members, apparently eager to "get the monkey off their backs," passed out most of the program recommended by Gov. Price Daniel.

Biggest milestone was House passage by a 71-to-56 majority of the governor's "package bill". As finally passed, it would raise about $150,000,000 in two years—only about $10,000,000 short of the governor's goal.

Included in the package would be an increased levy on natural gas, a new franchise tax on interstate corporations and bigger taxes on tobacco, liquor, automobiles, utilities, etc.

Some members bitterly criticized the bill as dangerous to Texas' industrial future and a product of the labor-liberal lobby. But most seemed to agree that it is "the only way to avoid a general sales tax or income tax."

Senators showed no apparent desire to set a speed record on the first money-raising bills sent them by the House. Bookkeeping bill, designed to erase part of the $65,000,000 deficit by changing the accounting procedure, was sent off for an Attorney General's opinion on its constitutionality.

A bill to increase the corporation franchise tax for one year only—also to ease the deficity—was set aside. Better to wait for the whole program, the Senators decided than to work at it "piecemeal."

Senate did take one step forward, however, when Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro introduced the abandoned property bill which had bogged down in the House taxation committee.

Stitch-And-Cut Team

Ten lawmakers—five from the House, five from the Senate— have the difficult task of making one package out of the different spending bills passed by the two houses.

Sen. William S. Fly of Victoria and Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah head the group. House-passed appropriation bill is more than $20,000,000 larger than the Senate's. Conference Committee's task will be to cut a little off here, tack a little on there until an acceptable compromise is reached.

In past sessions, this piecing together process has taken several weeks. Even on a day-and-night schedule, this committee will be hard-pressed to finish its job before the present session ends in mid-June.

More than different spending ideas separates House and Senate. Each house used the bill to express its ideas on how the State Board of Insurance should operate. House says full-time; Senate, part-time. Unyielding views have been expressed on each side.

Other members of the committes are Sens. Floyd Bradshar, Weatherford; Ray Roberts, McKinney; Crawford Martin, Hillsboro; and Wardlow Lane, Center. Reps. John Abilene; B. H. Dewey, Bryan; and Jesse Osborn, Muleshoe.

Election Changes Urged

Study leading toward a complete revision of the Texas Election code is the goal of a House-passed resolution.

Rep. Harold Parish of Taft is sponsor.

If passed by the Senate, the resolution would provide for a 15-member committee to draft recommendations for the 1961 legislative session.

Making up the study panel three Senators, the Attorney General, the manager of the Texas Election Bureau, three persons named by the national committee members of the Republican and Democratic parties.

All One Job

Two House committees—taxation and appropriations—would be merged under a resolution proposed by Rep. Truett Latimer of Abilene.

One committee of 31, called the House Ways and Means Committee would replace the two 21-member groups.

Latimer declared that since money raised and money spent have to come out even, it would be more logical to have the decisions made jointly rather than separately.

Farm-Market Road Change

State's pressing money shortage may bring about a change in the favored budget position farm-market roads have had for the past 10 years.

Since the Colson-Briscoe Act was passed in 1949, the General Revenue Fund has been automatically roads. Goal was to build 35,000 nicked $15,000,000 a year for F-M miles of all-weather rural roads.

Rep. Richard Slack of Pecos has introduced a bill to take F-M road spending out of the State Highway funds rather than from General Revenue. It would not cut farm road spending, but would reduce the money available to the Highway Department for state highways.

Worms: First Call To Duty

By Vern Sanford

If you took all the youngsters who went fishing last Saturday and stood them side by side, it would make a long line of mighty happy kids.

Also if you strung out, end to end, all the fishing worms that those same youngsters used for bait, it would make a line ten times longer.

This just points up the fact that worms get the first call to duty when a boy goes fishing. Plenty of grownups use 'em too! Fact of the matter is—the common garden variety of earthworm is about the most widely used of all natural fish bait.

Minnows will run a close second. Then come crawfish, hellgrammites, grasshoppers, crickets and a wide variety of critters that usually can be found without much trouble, either in your own back yard or around the creek.

There are some tricks about capturing, keeping and using these various baits.

But let's talk about the earth worm. Although he likes his earth moist, the earthworm is not a resident of water. Only time he ever gets in the drink, without man's aid, is to be washed there when it rains, or dropped there when a piece of the bank crumbles off.

Water resident or not, nearly any fish recognizes the worm instantly as something to eat, and acts accordingly.

A rich, loamy, clay soil is the earthworm's favorite kind of habitat. This, because it contains plenty of organic matter which is his food. Most gardens contain the kind of soil that's right for worms and good gardens are kept well watered.

A little garden digging normally will produce enough worms for a day at the creek. In fact, many a youngster, forced into hard labor in the cabbage patch, with a spading fork on Saturday morning, has consoled himself with the thought that his effort will yield bait for the afternoon diversion. About the cabbages, he couldn't care less.

Worms go deep when the earth is dry. Water it, and the worms will be there next day. Or put down some wide boards and pour the dishwater over them. If there are worms in the soil, they will congregate under the boards in a few days, to eat the food in the dishwater.

Keeping worms for a short period of time requires no effort. Simply put them into a container with some of the soil in which they were found. Add a little water from time to time, but don't drown them. If they are kept for longer periods, the worms should be fed occasionally. Here again dishwater will do. Or use some vegetable shortening mixed with cornmeal, or bread crumbs. Just be sure to keep the container in a cool place.

You can maintain a permanent supply of worms by utilizing a hard wood box sunk into the ground. Bore a couple of holes in the bottom for drainage, and cover these with copper wire screening, so the worms can't escape. Plug cracks in the box for the same reason. Fill the box with alternate layers of soil and dead leaves. Add worms. Feed occasionally. It is a good idea to cover the box to keep out excessive moisture in the rainy season, and to maintain coolness. Contribute water in small amounts when the weather is dry, and you'll always have worms.

There are two thousand-odd varieties of earthworms in the world, but you don't care about that, and neither does the fish. He can't tell them apart any more than you can, nor does he know their Latin names. All he knows is that the thing is good to eat, and he will go for same when it is properly presented, which brings us to another aspect of the subject.

Presentation is one of the most important factors in fishing success. The big secret is to offer the bait naturally .. the way the fish is accustomed to seeing it. Thus, as relates to the worm—he can't swim, so he always drifts with the current. If there is no current, he drifts from top to bottom, and stays there, wriggling enough to call attention to himself.

The ordinary cane pole fisherman will ignore this precept. He will rig up a hook, line and sinker, attach a worm, and let the thing dangle there, five or six feet down, until times get better. Sometimes he catches fish, and sometimes when the fish are in the mood, he catches a lot. But over the long haul he would do much better if he observed the rules of presentation.

Take bream, for example. The bream (colloquially perch—also bluegill, etc.) is the prize fish of the beginner. He bites readily on earthworms and other baits. And he is mighty tasty in the pan. And at least one authority says that the bluegill, for his size, is the toughest fighter of all game fish. More bream are caught on earthworms than on any other bait.

It shouldn't be necessary to say that for bream a fisherman should use a very small hook. Also just enough earthworm to cover the bend and part of the shank. But I've seen bream fishermen—beginners, obviously—with hooks much too large, baited with earthworms the size of a boy's little finger. That's too much hook and too much worm for a bream, which has a very small mouth.

Use everything small for bream. Spinning gear is wonderful. Here's a place where you can go to the ultra-light tackle, which is coming to be of considerable interest to the masters these days. Take a featherweight rod such as Conolon is making a five-foot length. Ideally, you'd use an Italian Alcedo Micron reel. But that's out of the price range of most of us who work for a living. The Japanese are making a little reel that will do, and the price is modest. It's called the Golden Cub.

Fill your reel with 2-pound nylon monofilament, and you've got the right outfit for bream. You want a "perch" hook, and that means a small one. A tiny split shot is enough weight. No bobber is necessary where you have a current that will drift the worm down to where the fsih are. If the fish are congregated in one place, say around an old submerged brush pile about six feet, under, then you may want to put on the float accordingly.

Bait sparingly. Drift the worm into the place were the bream are. And you're in business.

The earthworm is also a fine bait for catfish. But here you use different tackle, of course, as well as a different way of baiting the hook. If you're going for catfish, don't think of "ultra-light" tackle. If you think of spinning gear at all, it should be very heavy stuff, with not less than 10-pound test line.

For catfish, you want a larger hook with a gob of worms. All should be hooked through once or twice with the ends left sticking out, so they will wriggle. Toss this kind of bait into a hole where a catfish lives and you're likly to get action.

WONDERING WHAT INSECT IS IN YOUR COTTON NOW

Southwest
KILTONE
KILLS 'EM ALL!

At last, cotton insect control becomes a simple, easy farm operation. No need to worry about what insect is destroying your cotton (and profits) now . . . SOUTHWEST KILTONE (425) Kills them all . . . early and late. SOUTHWEST KILTONE (425) is formulated under the same, high quality standards you've come to expect from SOUTHWEST products. The solvent, of course, is Xylene. Demand the Best SOUTHWEST KILTONE (425) for early and late season insect control.

of Cameron got good results. He used 1 quart of Dieldrin plus 1 pint of Parathion per acre. The infestation and damage was reduced 85 to 90 per cent on young maize.

Thrips On Cotton

Thrip damage on cotton increased somewhat this past week. Most farmers are applying early season control measures to control the thrip. Residual sprays are better, due to continued showers of rain.

Over wintered boll weevils are consistently found in nearly all fields inspected. The infestation runs from light to heavy. Farmers are advised to use a parathion-DDT mixture in one of the applications in an effort to knock out these weevils. Community field tours are being held to assist farmers with cotton insect problems.

Flea hoppers are showing up in the cotton fields only as scouts to view the situation. They have a good home at present in the HORSEMINT in pastures. From all indications, they are "living it up" in a family way. In the field tour held in the Thorndale community Monday of this week, one field that was poisoned the previous Thursday, showed adult flea hoppers had migrated into the field following the poison application. This is an expected pattern based on last years experience. Milam county farmers can be assured that an abundant infestation of fleas are in the host plants in pastures and will migrate into cotton fields during early June as host plants mature.

Pecan nut casebearers infestations are light in Milam county. Pecan growers are encouraged to spray their trees now for control of this insect. There is a good set of pecans on the trees indicating this area has a prospect for a better than average pecan crop.

Worms In Peaches

Tree ripened yellow fleshed peaches hanging at arms length on the neighbor's trees are a great temptation to even church people. There is never much guilt associated with such an act unless the watermelon turns out to be "green or the peach has a "worm" in it.

eas usually associated with grasshopper infestation. These insects are scarcely noticed while they are small and are apparently tending to their own business but during late June and July when ripe and pasture plants mature these insects starts to meddling in other peoples business by migrating to truck crops, gardens, fruit trees, etc., not to mention damage already done to the grass in stock men's pastures. Twice the number of grasshoppers could be controlled now with half the poison and effort due to these insects being in a more concentrated area. Toxaphene sprayed on infested areas at the rate of 1 to 1½ quarts per acre will give good control. The hydrocarbon insecticides will injure canteloupes, watermelons, cucumbers, etc., therefore, steps should be taken to prevent these insects from entering such areas.

Aphids in maize usually are checked by beneficial insects. We have a good crop of Lady bugs and Lace wing flies in the fields that feed on aphids. Entomologist do not recommend poisoning to control aphids unless they are in damaging numbers in the maize crop. due to these insects being in a more concentrated area.

Cotton planting deadline date for planting cotton in Milam county is May 31, as set by the Quarantine division of the pink bollworm control program under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

Farmers that feel that their cotton should be replanted due to excess grass, hail damage, etc., should make an application to John White's office in Austin. The general procedure for obtaining an extension is usually done through the County Commissioners Court. Such extensions are not generally considered unless the conditions are fairly wide spread or at least cover enough farms to justify such actions.

A ten day extension was granted counties in the district just north of the Milam county district this week due to wet fields as a result of continued rains.

Chemicals Control Insects

U. S. Cotton growers would pay an annual toll to cotton insects amounting to almost 1 pound of seed- cotton for every 3 pounds they produce without modern insecticides to combat them, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

More than 20 years of research by entomologists of U.S.D.A.'s Agricultural Research Service, in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, shows that although the percentage of production increase varies somewhat with the use of insecticides, more cotton has always been produced on treated plots.

Field trials at the ARS Cotton Insects Research Laboratory, Waco, Texas, show an average annual seed-cotton yield of 1,049 pounds per acre from treated plots. This is 309 lbs., or 42 per cent more cotton than the average annual total produced on untreated plots.

The experiments show that, since the advent of modern organic insecticides to control cotton pests, yield gains have averaged 53 per cent. Before 1945 when growers depended upon inorganic insecticides such as arsenicals and sulphur, yield increases amounted to about 34 per cent annually.

Highest production on treated

Since 1939, when the Cotton Insects Laboratory was established at Waco, tests have been conducted to compare production on plots with standard insecticides, and plots receiving no pest control treatment.

Only a few irrigated plots were involved in the study and those were analyzed during the last three years.

WHY HE FELL OFF THE PORCH. The village dimwit bought a book describing inexpensive prefabricated houses. He became so fascinated with the subject that he drew his last penny from the bank and ordered a house by mail. Some weeks later, his house a complete failure, he wrote a bitter note to protest to the manufacturer. An inspector came to investigate and roared: "You looney, you 've put up the whole thing up sidedown". "Oh, that's the trouble, with it?" pondered the customer. "No wonder I kept falling off the porch."

Degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Texas, June 6.

After graduation, Mr. Richter will enter graduate school at the University and will be a research engineer at Balcanes Research Center in Austin.

Mr. Richter received a $500.00 scholarship from Hughes Tool Co., of Houston and has recently been awarded an $800.00 scholarship for graduate study from Mission Manufacturing Co., of Houston.

Reporting to the Council were the Foods and Recreation Committees of the Camp. Chairman, Jo Ann Hollas, reported the new Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Frances Hembree, will be in Milam County June 1.

Tenry Tomasek, Jr., Bobby Hillman and Leo Rozner, members of the Milam County Grass Judging team, went to College Station, May 27, to study the Extension Range Departments grass mounts in preparation for the State contest to be held June 9.

Three 4-H delegates, Joyce Fuchs and LaNell Moraw of Cameron and Gloria Ely of Gause, and adult leader, Mrs. Wavy Charles of the Tracy-Duncan H. D. Club, left Wednesday for Girls District 4-H Camp at Camp Tres Rios, Glen Rose. The girls will attend workshops and participate in Leadering the three day encampment.

Hillsboro, Tex., Men Report—

Ammonia carryover increased corn and maize yields

Laverne (left) and Loyd Williams, who farm 800 acres in Hill County, say: "Under county agent-conducted tests we proved to ourselves that Phillips 66 Ammonia gives profitable nitrogen carryover. Phillips 66 Ammonia was applied to certain plots, left off of others. Then under identical growing conditions, the nitrogen carryover, following a dry year, gave us a 25-bushel increase in corn, and 1000 to 1500-pound increase in maize grain.

"This was vital information for us, because we only get about 28 inches of rainfall here per year. We consider ammonia one of the best ways to reduce the risk of farming."

Other successful Texas farmers have discovered that they make more profit per acre, using Phillips 66 Ammonia. They get more cotton that classes higher at the gin . . . yields of sorghum grain or ensilage are increased . . . profits on wheat and small grains are boosted through higher grain yields and improved forage . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested.

Phillips 66 Ammonia can be easily applied by you or your distributor. See us today about your supply of profitable Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia . . . it gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.
